

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Device for fastening a ceiling covering made of leather or imitation leather in a roof cutout for a sliding roof which is arranged in a molded ceiling element and which can be inserted in a vehicle roof, and the ceiling covering is pulled around an upright edge of the roof cutout and can be glued to the molded ceiling element, so that, also in rounded areas of the roof cutout for a sliding roof, a ceiling covering can be held which follows the course of the edge of the cutout in a contacting manner, clamping pieces are provided in these rounded corner areas which hold the ceiling covering in a pretensioned fashion by means of prongs.